Apply online, come in to any branch or call us to find out more.

*APR = Annual Percentage Rate. Rates and offer are subject to change without notice. Actual rate offered is dependent on individual credit rating and may differ from rate quoted above. Monthly payment example based on 4.74% APR for 60-month term. Rate is .25% higher without direct deposit to PPCU checking account. Maximum allowed term depends on loan type and model year. Refinancing offer valid only for vehicle loans financed by lenders other than PPCU and is not valid with any other offers. Must apply for and fund refinanced loan during April, 2009 to qualify for special offer listed here. 30 minutes is an approximate estimation of the time needed to process a loan and assumes that all applicant's required documents are complete and presented at time of application with no special circumstances. This offer is not a guarantee of loan approval turnaround time; actual processing time is dependent on many variables, including individual circumstances, loan volume and available resources.

Repossession doesn't release you from debt

If you cannot make your monthly payments, voluntarily returning your car to the lender does not automatically release your obligation from the loan.

You are still responsible for the balance plus any additional fees the lender incurs from repossessing the vehicle, selling the car at auction and attorney fees. If the lender does sell your car for less than your loan balance, which is typically the case, you will still owe the difference plus the added expenses.

It is therefore financially better for you to sell the auto yourself to avoid any fees. Another advantage—you'll probably get more money than what the lender will obtain if the vehicle is sold at a public auction. Questions? Give us a call.
